Meandering

By WASH FAYETTE

In the September issue of The American Home magazine is an interesting letter written by First Lieut. Clifton E. Hazard, son of Mrs. C. C. Hazard, of Washington C. H., who is now stationed in New Guinea as statistician with the U. S. Troop Carrier group.

The letter tells of his plans for building a small home on a properly located plot of ground when he returns from the service, and says that is what he thinks of and dreams of while almost at the other side of the world from home.

In part his letter carried in the magazine says:

"I don't care how small the house is if it's well designed and appropriately furnished, and on a lot large enough for a backyard that would support a croquet set and both a flower and a vegetable garden."

It seems that Clifton has made a study of architecture and by the time he gets out of service he hopes to have his plans for a home completed, even to the placing of every piece of furniture, and possibly enough money saved while in the service to pay for it.

George L. Gossard, 608 South Main Street, has harvested his crop of "goobers," or peanuts, that he planted last spring.

George planted 12 nuts and has harvested 310 pods of nuts. He has placed a sample in the window of the Gossard Jewelry Store to show how Fayette County peanuts look.

By the way I tasted one of the nuts and found it of fine flavor. I ate it raw, as raw peanuts are more easily digested than the roasted, although not as popular because the roasted ones possess a more inviting flavor. Comparatively few persons have ever tasted the raw nuts.

The drought reduced George's yield, as it did that of Deputy Sheriff Otto Reno's patch on South Nora Street.

Both men intend trying their luck again next year, and if the season is favorable, expect a good yield.

A short time ago away out yonder in the Hawaiian Islands three Washington C. H. men met accidentally. None knew the others were within 5,000 miles of the spot.

Seaman First Class Clarence (Pete) Yahn, son of Mrs. Mary Conrad, West Temple Street, writing to his sister, Miss Wanda Yahn here, said that on one of the Islands in the Pacific (presumably the main island of the Hawaiian group) he saw a man on the beach. The two looked at each other and kept looking, then each recognized the other. Pete had met Duane Denney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Denney, this city. The two men also met Elliott Bonnie, formerly of this city, who is also on the Island.

It isn't everybody who can go forth into his garden and pick a quart of ripe strawberries on October 21, but that is just what Mrs. John A. Willson, 746 South High Street did Saturday.

"And there are plenty of green berries left to ripen later if they do not freeze," Mrs. Willson said.

UPRISING IN SPAIN
REMAINS OBSCUREReports of Clashes Along
French Border Conflict

LONDON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Conflicting reports of armed clashes in Spain reached London today and it was not yet clear whether the action involved only frontier skirmishes or an organized and formidable revolt against Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Flangist regime.

An authoritative source cautioned against overestimating the extent of the hostilities. Official quarters said they had no information confirming reports of a general uprising.

It was pointed out, however, that strong, well-equipped Maquis forces including a high percentage of Spanish Republicans were in southwestern France near the Spanish border.

Roosevelt supporters, with Senator Ball (R-Minn.) in their ranks, plugged the foreign policy hard today, while Governor Dewey set out to expound on the same hot dispute tonight in Ball's home state.

The Republican presidential nominee, who will speak from Minneapolis at 10:30 P.M. EWT (NBC and Blue networks) said in advance that he will "fill in the gaps" of President Roosevelt's New York address on America's part in the peacetime world.

Awaiting Dewey in Minneapolis was a challenge from Senator Harry Truman, Democratic vice presidential candidate. Truman said in a statement there last night that if Dewey sincerely favors "a strong foreign policy," he will ask for defeat "of the eight isolationists who were nominated by the Republicans" for the senate.

Publisher Robert R. McCormick, whose Chicago Tribune was listed by President Roosevelt as part of "the isolationist press," commented that "the word isolationist is the word that a man controlled by foreign influences uses for patriotism."

Senator Ball, bolting his party's nominee to support Mr. Roosevelt on foreign policy grounds, is to make a radio speech expanding his reasons Thursday night.

The fact that it is to be sponsored by a Republicans for Roosevelt committee headed by Bartley Crum, California manager for Wendell L. Willkie in 1940, inspired Democrats to look around for more possible recruits from

ROCKET LAUNCHERS
BEING MADE IN OHIOTubes Adjustable to Several Types of Planes

AKRON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. disclosed today that its anti-aircraft gun plant has been converted to the manufacture of rocket launchers which are being used against enemy ground forces.

John W. Thomas, chairman and chief executive, reported the weapons are being manufactured "by the thousands" at the plant which until last spring produced 25,000 mobile Bofors 40-millimeter anti-aircraft guns.

The rocket launching tubes, made from magnesium or from plastic-hardened paper are 10 feet long and 4 1-2 inches in diameter, and are discharged electrically in clusters from the wings of aircraft.

The company said that the launchers are adjustable to fit P-38 Lightnings, P-39 Airacobras, A-20 Havocs and A-36 Invaders, and that military authorities have credited them with an important role at Saipan.

FDR TO BROADCAST MAJOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will deliver a major campaign speech in Chicago sometime after his Friday appearance in Philadelphia's Shibe Park.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced the Chicago speech today but told reporters he did not have the date.

DOGS ARMY IS TO DISCHARGE
MAY BE SOLD FOR $1 A PIECE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Somewhere between 500 and 1,000 members of the army's K-9 Corps are going to be mustered out of service by January 1, and some of them will be offered for public sale—possibly at $1 each.

The Quartermaster Corps said today that most of the dogs—shepherds, farm collies, doberman pinschers, boxers—would be declared surplus property for disposal by the Treasury Department.

First Announcement of Break Through German Frontier Defenses Made by Russians After Troops 19 Miles Inside Germany

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Russian penetration of German territory to a depth of at least 19 miles in East Prussia was proclaimed today in the first Moscow announcement of a powerful Red army offensive that already has captured 400 Nazi towns and villages.

Summarizing results of a thrust from western Lithuania that the Germans have been reporting for a week, a Russian communique said Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army had broken through frontier defenses on an 87-mile front on the east.

Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's first Baltic Army cleared the way to spring into the homeland of the Junkers from the north.

The Soviet bulletin announced Bagramian's troops had occupied all of Memel territory except the port of Memel itself, where the German garrison was cut off.

Cherniakhovsky's offensive which gave the Russians a solid footing on German soil for the first time, drove directly westward on each side of the main highway and rail routes from Kaunas, Lithuania, to Insterburg and Königsburg. Insterburg, a hub of five railways 37 miles from the border, appeared the immediate strategic prize.

Late dispatches said the Russians were approaching Gumbinnen, on the main westward route only 15 miles east of Insterburg and 63

Tanks Set Pace For Yank Drive
That Beats Back Japs at Leyte

By LEONARD MILLIMAN

(By The Associated Press)

American invasion of Samar Island in the central Philippines was reported today in a front-line dispatch from Leyte Island to the Melbourne (Australia) Herald.

The dispatch, passed by military censors, said a tank column had been ferried across narrow San Juanico Strait from a point north of Tacloban, provisional capital of the Philippines on Leyte.

Establishment of a bridgehead at Samar at this point would put U. S. tanks alongside a road leading to within 15 miles of Luzon Island, on which Manila is situated. Samar, one of the largest Philippine islands, is separated from Luzon by San Bernardino.

The report, unmentioned by other correspondents or in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique, coincided with Japanese radio reports of new sea-borne bombing raids on the Manila area.

On Leyte American troops struggled through almost neck-deep slime, fought off vicious enemy counterattacks and pounded against stubbornly resisting Japanese to keep the advance moving on all sectors.

Already, MacArthur announced, his invasion forces have liberated 11 towns on Leyte and completed conquest of three small islands guarding the entrance to Leyte Gulf where they landed a week ago.

On the narrow southern sector of Leyte fighting, tanks rolled into the outskirts of San Pablo at

NEW NAVY HELLCAT
DOWNS JAPS 31 TO 1Armor Improved and Speed
Increased to Over 400 MPH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Navy has thrown a new Hellicat into the Pacific which is bringing down Japanese planes on a 31 to 1 ratio, a major contribution to the sweeping advances of the past six months.

A few details of this super-fighter were disclosed today—but no more than the Zero pilots already have discovered to their dismay.

The new ship is called the F6F-3. It supersedes the earlier Hellicat which itself was superior in speed, armor, armament and fire power over Japanese fighters.

The new ship mounts six .50 calibre machine guns, also can carry rockets and bombs. Pilots say it handles beautifully in a dive, takes off nicely from flattops and can outrun the fastest Zero ever made at any altitude. It has a speed of better than 400 miles an hour.

Headquarters Clerk Rallies Typewriter Brigade To Battle When Enemy Force Attacks
Bivouac in France -- Even Gives Orders to Officers

By HAL BOYLE

WITH THE AEF IN GERMANY (Delayed)—(AP)—It is hard to make a hero out of Staff Sgt. William Kolosky.

When you ask Kolosky, who is chief clerk in a headquarters outfit, how he became the first soldier in this hard-hitting division to win the Distinguished Service Cross in Europe he just laughs and says:

"You mean that time I was scared stiff?"

He was scared stiff, too, that black night of July so near St. Denis Le Gast when a German column of more than 600 men and ten tanks attacked his headquarters company as it was pulling into a bivouac area.

The Germans were one of several units chopped to pieces in the great St. Lo breakthrough and they were trying desperately to surge through the thin American line.

Kolosky, who knows more about punching a typewriter than triggering a burp gun, won his medal for rallying a battle line of clerks, radio operators, draftsmen, messengers, interpreters and orderlies and repelling the German attack.

But the husky, blond son of Mrs. Stella Watkins, 1054 W. 59th Street, Chicago, wasn't thinking of winning medals when the German shells suddenly came whistling out of the darkness. Several vehicles went up in flames.

Kolosky stretched his six-foot

British troops drove into the outskirts of the Dutch road hub of 'S Hertogenbosch today in one phase of a Canadian-British squeeze offensive against perhaps 40,000 German troops battling to hold southwestern Holland and to maintain a blockade of the great supply port of Antwerp.

An assault ring was shaping around 'S Hertogenbosch, with the northernmost British column reaching the city. Scottish troops swinging up from the south cut the road leading to Eindhoven.

Nearly 50 miles to the west, Canadians cut off the causeway to the Schelde estuary islands, where enemy cannot block the sea route to Antwerp, and fought to within from three to five miles of the strongholds of Roosendaal and Eergen Op Zoom.

A dispatch from supreme Allied headquarters in Paris said that Canadian units fighting to clear the south bank of the Schelde estuary held the ferry port of Breskens firmly today and were along or across a road all the way to Schoondijke, three miles south of Breskens. The Germans have been squeezed into a pocket in this area.

An earlier dispatch had reported that the Canadians who took Breskens Sunday had withdrawn from the town and that a confused situation prevailed there.

Demolition patrols which moved a half-mile beyond Breskens to Fort Frederik Hendrik withdrew, presumably leaving that bastion's powerful coastal batteries out of action. Neither side now occupies the fort, the Paris dispatch said.

North of Antwerp Canadian troops cut the causeway leading to the islands in the Schelde estuary.

Along the main 475-mile front facing east toward Germany persistent Allied pressure scored no major gains, and the winter's first widespread snow sharpened the

TOLL OF BLAST-FIRE

Believed Dead

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Draining of two liquefied gas storage tanks which remained intact after explosions and fire at the East Ohio Gas Co.'s plant devastated a 50-block area was ordered today as a precautionary measure.

In addition to the area already evacuated, residents of 21 properties adjoining the plant were directed to depart while drainage operations are in progress.

Meanwhile, the number of known dead in last Friday's disaster mounted to 114 on the county morgue's records. Only 37 of these had been identified. The missing list was reduced to 89 of whom 47 were gas company employees. Sixty-five victims remained in hospitals and of these two were reported in critical condition and three in poor condition.

Coroner S. R. Gerber said there was evidence that at least 28 more bodies remained in the ruins of the plant and surrounding homes.

OHIO HIGHWAY PATROL
APOLOGIZES TO WALLACE
AFTER ESCORT REFUSED

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The state highway patrol's refusal last week to escort Vice President Henry A. Wallace from Springfield to Columbus, was officially described as the action of a subordinate officer, who ruled in the absence of the lieutenant in charge of district headquarters.

Thus Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the state highway patrol, explained what he termed "one of those slip-ups."

"The only thing we can do now is make an apology," Mingle said yesterday. "The refusal certainly was not in line with the policy of the department."

His father, an American air force pilot, was killed in action before he was born and his mother, an English girl, died in childbirth. But six-month-old Kenneth Barry Maloney will have a home in the U. S. after all. The boy was flown to the U. S. and united in New York with his paternal grandmother, who arrived from Grand Rapids, Mich., to claim the boy. (International Soundphoto)

Presidential Campaign
Is Stepped Up in Ohio

By JOHN FRYE

(By The Associated Press)

National Democratic spokesmen pressed a bid today for Ohio's prize 26 electoral votes with statements that President Roosevelt would win the peace and that his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, "had resigned as commander-in-chief without having been elected."

In return, U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, a ranking Republican power, declared that a fourth term for President Roosevelt would lead eventually to collapse of private enterprise, leaving little choice, he said, except Communism or National Socialism. Other Republicans contended that a Democratic victory in Ohio would

The guerrillas collected detailed information as to Japanese strength and dispositions before the invasion. This information was transmitted fully to American headquarters by secret means.

The guerrillas were given a schedule of operations in advance of the landings to permit them to evacuate civilians from threatened areas and to forewarn them when to go into action.

$4,000 MORE IS NEEDED IN NWF CAMPAIGN HERE

One More Day Before Final Report Meeting; Depends On Individuals Now

With only one more day of soliciting, National War Fund committee members were not as encouraged as they noted the $20,964.98 total reported Monday night.

Although only $4,000 remains of the total quota, Walter F. Rettig, campaign chairman, pointed out that most of that $4,000 would have to come from individual contributions since virtually all the large sums had been included in the totals.

The last report meeting will be Wednesday at 8 P. M. in the Common Pleas court room of the Court House. All ward, township and group chairmen are asked to attend the meeting, Rettig said.

He urged all solicitors who have repeat calls or who have not yet made their calls to do so Tuesday night so the report Wednesday could be that the $24,900 quota has been reached.

From a General's Wife
In a letter endorsing the War Chest of Texas, Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower says:

"Every enterprise which hastens the inevitable victory of our armed forces in this war for freedom, which helps the boys in the service and alleviates suffering at home, which helps to bring an end to the tragedy, blood and tears incident to the conquest of our enemies, must be helped in every possible way."

"I am happy to participate in the opening of your drive toward that end, and, with every other wife and mother whose heart is at the battle front, I pray earnestly for an early victorious end to the war and for strength and poise to carry on cheerfully and helpfully in the meantime."

Tabulated Report
Only two divisions, industrial and retail, have gone over their quotas. All townships and wards are lagging far behind the goals set for them at the beginning of the drive.

LT. DON MACK IS MISSING IN ACTION, REPORT

Liberator Pilot Overseas One Month; Was in Action In Italy

Lt. Robert D. (Don) Mack, 24 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mack, 220 West Market Street, is reported missing in action in Italy, his parents learned Monday night.

Lt. Robert D. Mack

The War Department notified Lt. Mack's wife in Seymour, Texas, that her husband was missing and she called Mr. and Mrs. Mack here Monday night.

Lt. Mack has been in the service just three months short of four years. A Liberator bomber pilot, he has been overseas only a month when he was reported missing. He won his pilot's wings last February at Fort Worth Army Air Field in Texas.

A 1939 WHS graduate, Lt. Mack was employed at Western Union shortly before he entered the service.

sweating out the daylight—I thought the sun would never come up."

Before that night Kolosky never had fired his gun in combat.

"But I took potshots at airplanes a couple of times," he asserted with a grin.

You can't make a hero out of Kolosky. He still laughs at the idea of a man as scared as he was being given the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery.

Invading forces inched inland from Palo against strong resistance blocking the advance to the northern portion of the valley road. Flanking forces beat off a counterattack at high cost to the Japanese.

Ten of the liberated towns lie in a narrow area seven miles long and three miles wide reaching from Palo to Tacloban, temporary capital of the legal Philippines government. Advance units have pushed three miles beyond Tacloban against Japanese units withdrawing to the northwest.

The Philippines advance was slow, but caused sufficient concern in Tokyo for a naval commentator to concede "Japan is now on the defensive," and for the cabinet to be called into session to "deliberate upon current problems."

The problems include land-based bombers which smashed again at Iwo Island, 750 miles south of Tokyo; Adm. William F.

Halsey's Third Fleet, still unchallenged in the western Pacific; and submarines preying on Japanese ships beyond the reach of air power.

Loss of the submarines Herring and Golet, each carrying a crew of 65 men and a famed commander of undersea warfare, was announced yesterday by the Navy. Thirty-two U. S. submarines have been lost since Pearl Harbor.

Bitter fighting was reported on the southeast China front on either side of Kweiping, 78 miles southeast of Liuchow, U. S. airbase and objective of the Japanese offensive. Chinese counterattacks south southwest of Kweiping reportedly took a heavy toll of Japanese.

plague of weather which has hampered the Allied armies for weeks.

While an obvious objective of the British and Canadians is the clearance of the Germans from the vicinity of the Belgian port of Antwerp, German military commentators imputed a broader strategic aim to the assault on 'S Hertogenbosch. They said that Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's men were attempting to cut off German forces south of the Maas (Meuse) and Waal Rhine rivers and to gain elbow room for a general drive into central Holland.

In their advance the British wiped out a whole battalion of the German 712th German infantry division and took 500 prisoners, including one regimental and one battalion commander.

The Nazis captured 'S Hertogenbosch May 12, 1940, after German troops in Dutch uniforms seized the city's vital bridges and defense centers. A city of 41,000 population, 'S Hertogenbosch is a junction of five rail lines and is an important center of motor roads and waterways.

Above Antwerp Canadian troops swept north from captured Eschen on the Belgian-Dutch border and were reported little more than three miles from Roosendaal and threatening to flank the heavily fortified German position on Bergen Op Zoom, seven miles to the west and slightly south.

West of Antwerp the Canadians were engaged in see-saw fighting with the Germans pocketed in the Breskens area. Breskens, a ferry port on the long waterway leading to Antwerp, was taken Sunday.

Activity on the American First Army front was limited to mopping up in the Wurselen area northeast of Aachen yesterday.

To the south troops of the American Third Army fought into the village of Bezange-La-Petite east of the French city of Nancy, but were forced to withdraw by dug-in German tanks. Other American units had reached Hill 284, west of Moncourt, and held two-thirds of the Moncourt forest, but had not yet penetrated the town of Moncourt, a front dispatch said last night.

The British Second Army in the week which ended last Friday captured 16 German officers and 1,428 enlisted men, bringing its total number of prisoners since D-Day, June 6, to 80,356. In the same week, the Canadian First Army took 38 German officers and 2,730 enlisted men, bringing its total since D-Day to 77,631.

In Italy, American troops of the Fifth Army battling down the northern slopes of the Apennines approached today within four miles of Castel San Pietro, large Po valley junction town on the Rimini highway 13 miles south-east of Bologna.

Eighth Army troops driving northward along Italy's Adriatic coast have advanced one-half mile beyond captured Cervia, while inland Canadian forces have enlarged and strengthened their bridgehead across the Savio River north of Cesena, Allied headquarters announced today.

Strong forces of German night fighters, saved for defense of prize targets, swarmed up over Essen last night to challenge a fleet of 1000 RAF heavy bombers which attacked the great armament and railway center in the heart of the Ruhr.

The bombers, which flew through the first heavy snowstorm of the season over the western front, also encountered the fiercest ground barrage they have met on their last seven trips to the Ruhr.

DODGE'S MARRIAGE DELAYED BY FATHER

Heir to Auto Fortune To Wed Connecticut Girl

DENVER, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The heir to one of America's largest automobile fortunes, Cpl. Horace E. Dodge III, and his fiancée, Margery Gehman, awaited today the arrival of the corporal's father, heartened by the news that he had withdrawn his objections to their proposed marriage.

Maj. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., father of the 21-year-old Lowry field corporal, said yesterday in Stamford, Conn., before leaving for Denver, that he no longer objected. Asked if he would act as his son's best man, he replied, "I believe I will if I am asked."

Cpl. Dodge and Miss Gehman, daughter of a professor of mathematics at Buffalo, N. Y. university, said last night they would wait until Maj. Dodge arrived and then proceed with the wedding, with or without his consent. The wedding formerly was planned for today.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(AP)—"Dear mom and pop, don't worry!" write nine out of ten of the 65,000 or more American prisoners of war in their letters from enemy prison camps.

Army officials today revealed this official plea to the folks back home during the first press tour of the Prisoner of War Information Bureau at the U. S. War Department. This is the "only official source of information in the United States concerning Americans who are in prison camps of our enemies," they said.

Americans held by enemies also include approximately 10,000 civilian internees, about 75 per cent held by the Japanese, in addition to the military men and civilians who worked with U. S. services who are counted as war

Private Brown HAS LEARNED A LOT OF THINGS

★ From high-school boy to fighting man was quite a jump for Bill Brown. He had never been away from home for more than a few days before he put on khaki. And, for a while, he was confused... even more than a little scared.

That was a year ago. Today, Private Brown is a top-notch fighter. He is sure of himself. He has learned to depend on his buddies, on other service branches... even other countries... to help him do his war job better.

When Private Brown returns, he'll have experience far beyond his years. He'll recognize the value of many business services to aid him in his peacetime work. And he'll use these services fully.

In the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, with its 70,000 workers and 11,000 miles of track, ex-Private Brown, like millions of other Americans, will find a convenient, economical and speedy means of transportation... in business and for pleasure.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

The most important product of any war is the ensuing peace—a truth which has been mightily impressed on public consciousness by the Dumbarton Oaks Conference to plan for a world organization to outlaw armed conflict.

Enduring peace is the star to which we want to hitch our chariot, but the difficulties to be surmounted in achieving it become more apparent daily as the European international political sparks shower about the open powder keg. Every point of the continental compass produces its problem. A concrete example is the boundary dispute between Moscow and the Polish government in London—a dangerous situation which again is hot.

Whether a workable peace league can be created seems to me to depend mainly at the outset on the big three—the United States, Russia and Britain—as in this column previously has recorded. Of course all nations, big and little, are essential to perfect union, but the trio is the key to the problem.

These three dominant powers have the strength to enforce peace. By the same token the strength of each is so great that a serious falling out among them must mean a fresh upheaval.

That's why the statesmen of all countries watched Moscow intently during the parley just concluded between Premier Stalin and British Prime Minister Churchill regarding military and political problems. This conference may in the long run prove to be one of the most momentous of our time.

White responsibility for peace can be assessed against the big three, it revolves strongly around Russo-British relations, which have taken on an entirely new complexion as a result of the war. Russia is emerging as the great new power of the Eastern Hemisphere, and fortune is transferring to Moscow much of the influence which long has made England the gendarme of Europe.

America, situated in the distant Western Hemisphere, is deeply but not so intimately concerned with this epochal shift of influence in Europe. London and Moscow, however, must reach a thorough and friendly understanding, involving a great deal of give and take, if this colossal readjustment is to be made smoothly.

Thus it was with relief that the outside world received word through the Soviet press that the Stalin-Churchill conference was a success. The government paper Izvestia declared the parley gave good reason to believe that the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States would enjoy an era of increasing collaboration in speeding up defeat of Germany and of comradeship in the solution of peace.

If that's a correct estimate, then the prospects of the Dumbarton Oaks project seem good. There are many delicate moments yet to be bridged, but a peace organization can be created and made to function.

What are the prime essentials for a comity of nations? I put that query over the luncheon table in New York to Dr. Carl Hambro, famous European statesman who is president of the Norwegian Parliament (now in exile in London) and president of the assembly of the League of Nations. He named two things as vital:

1. Absolute honesty among nations. Out of this will grow confidence.

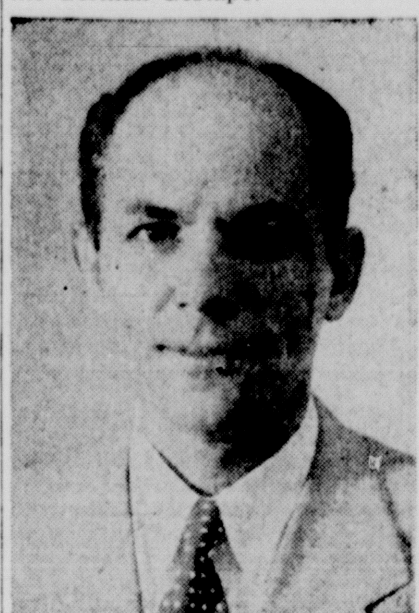

2. Absolute freedom of the press, both in the collection of news at the source and in its publication.

Dr. Hambro lets these points

MISSIONARY WHO WAS PRISONER TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. G. P. Warfield Is Main Speaker at Brotherhood Meeting Nov. 16

Dr. Gaither P. Warfield, Warsaw, Poland, missionary superintendent of the Methodist Church who has been interned at intervals by three different nations during the present war, is to be the speaker at a bi-district rally of the Methodist Brotherhood, 8 P. M., Nov. 16 at Washington C. H. Grace Methodist Church. His alma mater, Dickinson College, awarded him the doctor of divinity degree when he was a prisoner of the German Gestapo.

Dr. G. P. Warfield

Dr. Warfield remained in Warsaw the first days of the terrific bombing and then fled east on a bicycle until he met the invading Russian army and was taken prisoner. He was returned to the Germans who permitted him to return to Warsaw. Later he was arrested by the German Gestapo and interned at Laufen, Germany. He was included in an exchange of interned Americans by the Swiss government and returned to the United States via the ship "Drottingholm." Mrs. Warfield and their young daughter were also included in the exchange.

Dr. Warfield first went to Poland in 1924. At that time he was assistant pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in New York City. In Poland he soon became superintendent of the Poznan District. He is a native of Rockville, Maryland. As soon as war conditions permit Dr. Warfield will return to resume his mission work.

Dr. E. F. Andree, Wilmington superintendent of the district, stated that he anticipates an attendance of several hundred men at Washington C. H. Extensive arrangements are being made for the men of each of the 54 churches of the district to attend.

Soldiers Urged To Quit By Civilians in Germany

By DON WHITEHEAD

U. S. FIRST ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 24—(AP)—The Germans have abandoned their plans for a mass evacuation of civilians of the Rhineland, and now are trying to isolate the soldiers as much as possible from the people who are weary of the war and frequently urge the troops to lay down their arms, it was reported today.

Orders have been issued to police to keep contact between soldiers and civilians to a minimum to prevent the spread of war weariness through the ranks of the army.

"In some cases the German people are ready to toss in the towel," an American officer said. "Many do not hesitate to talk to the troops and tell them they are foolish to continue fighting, while one case has been reported of a woman who cursed a soldier for not chucking in his rifle and calling it quits."

MOSQUITOES STILL ABUNDANT IN CITY

During the past week with each warm day, mosquitoes in great numbers were flying about premises and even in the up-town area.

One warm evening multitudes of the insects invaded the up-town district and attacked pedestrians. Residents are hoping that next year more stringent measures will be taken to prevent the outbreak of mosquitoes, with both the city and health departments co-operating fully.

GIRLS WANTED 18 - 35

If you are not engaged in essential Government or War Work, you can make a vital contribution to the War effort by preparing for and accepting employment as a typist or stenographer.

GOOD SALARY WHILE LEARNING
Six weeks of intensive training for typists; twelve weeks for stenographers. Trainees will receive $130 a month while in training; also free tuition. Immediate employment upon completion of either course. Carl M. Trego, authorized representative, will be at the UNITED STATES EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OFFICE

In Washington Court House on Thursday and Friday, October 26 and 27, From 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. to interview interested applicants who can comply with WMC Regulations.

It is believed the Germans abandoned their plans for a mass evacuation because of the lack of housing to take care of 10,000,000 Rhinelanders in central Germany where the cities have been badly battered in air raids.

At present civilians are being removed only in the immediate combat areas.

Males from 16 to 60 are being called up for Heinrich Himmler's Volkssturm, which is being organized to fight "with pitchforks" and to harass Americans from the rear as they press deeper into the Fatherland.

Some youths of 14 are being impressed into this so-called peoples army.

These civilians are being issued old Italian rifles with 30 rounds of ammunition.

Lt. Stanley Henceroth Is Prisoner Of Germans; Was Reported Missing

Lt. Stanley Henceroth, bomber co-pilot son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Henceroth, 605 East Temple Street, is a German prisoner of war, his parents learned today. He had been reported missing in action since September 12.

He entered the army air service January 14, 1943 and won his wings at Douglas, Arizona, February 8, 1944. He arrived in England July 1, 1944.

Before becoming a pilot, Lt. Henceroth was an administrative analyst at the War Production Board in Washington D. C.

How to keep a house from catching cold!

ONE WAY to keep a house from getting cold is by weatherstripping all doors and windows. Closing up the cracks that let cold in—and heat out.

There is going to be some shortage of coal delivered to homes this winter. Not because less coal is being mined. It is estimated that 29 millions more tons of bituminous coal will be mined this year than last—with fewer men. Quite a tribute to mine owners and miners alike!

There are adequate rail facilities for hauling the coal to your city. But certain grades of coal are going to be greatly in demand for war production. And your coal dealer is handicapped by a shortage of manpower, trucks and tires. So be patient with him.

Little, common-sense precautions can make your coal pile last 10% longer—and save that much on your fuel bill.

Such things as weatherstripping, cleaning the heating system, closing off unused rooms, firing carefully, and drawing your shades at night can help to keep your family snug and warm.

One of the biggest jobs of the C & O Lines is hauling coal from the mines along its routes, so we're in a position to understand the problem, and to know how essential coal is these days.

How Much Is a Billion?

Ask yourself this simple question, "Am I a billion minutes old?" Then make a quick guess for the answer. A minute is such a short interval in time; think how it seems when you have a train to catch. Many people would do guess that they have lived a billion minutes.

When you stop and figure it out, however, 60 minutes to an hour, 24 hours to a day and 365 days to a year, you'll find that to be a billion minutes old you would have to live 1,903 years. And, not counting interest, to accumulate a billion dollars you would have to earn a dollar a minute since the year 41 A.D., or $525,600 a year for 1,903 years.

This simple illustration may help to give you a better idea of how big a billion is. The term is used so frequently in present-day government finance that it means little more to most people than just another expenditure. It takes 1,000 millions of dollars to make a billion dollars. The interest charges on a billion dollars at 2 percent amount to 20 million dollars a year.

Now then, if 50,000,000 employed people in the nation work 8 hours a day, 6 days a week with 2 weeks vacation and only Christmas for a holiday, and each one of these 50,000,000 employees paid the government one dollar an hour, or $2,400 a year, it would take 2 years to pay off a government debt of 240 billion dollars. This is approximately what the federal government owes today, and the debt may reach 300 billion dollars before the end of 1945.

It is well then for every taxpayer to understand the meaning of a billion dollars. We have raised many billions for the war effort and can raise many more. But we certainly do not want expenditures of billions of dollars piled up on top of the war effort for any government activities which may be nonessential.

International Criminals

It is generally assumed in free countries that when, or if, Adolf Hitler is caught, he will be tried and punished for his enormous crimes. But Dorothy Thompson raises the interesting question of what legal authority there can be for such punishment, however richly it may be deserved.

Thus, she observes, it has become a crime in the conscience of mankind to wage an aggressive war, but "it is no crime in law." Hitler might possibly be tried on criminal charges under the Weimar constitution, still existing at least in theory, but "a smart lawyer could make a persuasive case that everything he had done was formally legal."

It will be recalled that at the close of the last war, when Kaiser Wilhelm was arraigned on criminal charges of responsibility for that great crime, an international tribunal which wanted to hang him finally gave up the effort and let him go free. "It has always been futile," says Miss Thompson, "to believe that Fascism could be liquidated by the forms of law by which we try ordinary criminals in constitutional states. A new justice has to be born, and a new law created, and it will be born in revolutionary tribunals because there are no other tribunals."

Very well, if a "revolutionary tribunal" is needed to hand out criminal justice to

Nippon's Trojan Buffalo Can't Buffalo Marines

NEW YORK—(AP)—Tojo lost two warriors, and an imitation buffalo lost its hindquarters when six Japanese soldiers tried to get by a Marine outpost in the dark by posing as a stray water buffalo, according to Sgt. Edward C. Stodell of Los Angeles Marine Corps combat correspondent of Los Angeles.

Late one evening, an outpost guarding the Pago River Water Point saw what looked like a water buffalo waddling along the outskirts of camp.

"Funny looking water buffalo to me," mused a Marine.

"That," said another, "is no water buffalo. That's Japanese."

They opened fire, and the lone buffalo disintegrated into six fleeing soldiers. Two were killed, the other four vanished. At the side of the dead Japanese, the Marines found a big rain cape which had served as the covering of the fake buffalo.

Today's Horoscope

Today's birthday child is persevering and determined, sometimes quite obstinate. Your determination of purpose brings you much success. You are better liked by the opposite sex than by your own. Your love will not be a smooth path, but as a whole, you will be happy. Your next year will be one of mixed fortunes. Love, domestic affairs and business are well signified, provided impulsive actions are avoided. Exercise care when near a fire and machinery. Do not be fool-hardy. Hitler, when the time comes, it should be created and the job done. If there is no such law in the law books, then it is time for civilized nations to write one, and use it for the punishment and control of great international crimes.

Admitting France Now

France, writes Anne O'Hare McCormick from Paris to the New York Times, wants to be counted in Allied Peace councils now. Her absence from the conference deciding the future of Europe, she says, is a very sore point with the French. She quotes the newspaper L'Apostrophe Aurore in what she calls a typical comment.

"The treatment of Germany is one thing. A pacific organization of the world is another. The first is one of the conditions of the second, but the essential thing is the construction of the peace. It is in this we demand to be associated—as a great power, as an empire which common victory will restore to us in its integrity."

The French paper adds that the French do not like to be treated like children, "but as a serious people whose opinion is asked before rebuilding a better and safer world."

There is reason in that demand, on more than one score. After all, who has to live next door to the Germans? The French, for one, with a long border in common with the ancient—and modern—enemy. The French know the Germans as few other nations do, from long and bitter experience. But they know, also, that trade must flow freely between the two countries if either is to prosper, that there must be lasting peace and agreements on small points as well as large. France should have a part in all peace discussions as soon as possible.

But now rum has come back and with it strange colored drinks of all kinds from the Argentine and South Africa and Turkey, to say nothing of some purely domestic products, made maybe out of sunflower seeds. These concoctions line the liquor store shelves. Then there are lots of young ladies who following the lead of the female congresswomen and columnists have found out that woman's place is to straighten out the difficulties between outer Bulgaria and the conflicting interests of China and Russia. While doing all this straightening out they chain smoke and chain smoke.

What I am leading up to in this moral and sociological disquisition is that the times conduce to getting such a thing as toxic amblyopia, or haziness of vision, due to the action of some unfamiliar chemical on the retina and if you should find yourself with about half your visual field clouded some morning don't necessarily put it down to grief over the fate of the Paretsists in Italy. It may be something you ate or drank or smoked, no doubt.

Chemicals Affecting Retina

The chemicals which most commonly affect the retina or optic nerve used to be alcohol, tobacco, quinine and ergot. But enough cases have now accumulated for us to know that many plants, some of them in apparently a purely allergic way, produce amblyopia. For example, a boy packing plants in moss in a florist's had partial loss of vision which cleared up when he changed occupations.

A woman took a dozen tablets containing salicylic acid and quinine, went partially blind for three months.

Alcohol and tobacco, especially in combinations, however, lead the list. I remember one old reprobate who used to soak his stogies in corn liquor for flavoring. He smoked 30 a day and drank the liquor besides. It should be added that though he was totally blind his wife then had him where she wanted him because he couldn't see the bottle or the stogies, so he gave up his habits and recovered.

Raw liquor because it is likely to have queer toxic alcohols and vegetable juices in it is especially dangerous.

SYNOPSIS

When Drue Cable, attractive young nurse, learned her former husband, Craig Brent, was the victim of a so-called accidental bullet, she persuaded her friend and fellow nurse, Sarah Keate, to answer with her the call made by Dr. Claud Chivery from a small New England town. Sarah was unaware of Drue's previous connection with the Brent family which included Craig's father, Conrad; Alexia, Conrad's glamorous young wife who, at one time, had hoped to marry Craig; Nicky Senour, Alexia's twin brother; and Peter Huber, friend of Craig. Anna Haub, maid at the Brent mansion, told how Craig was found unconscious in the garden, the previous night.

"Beevens, the butler, said it was an accident—Mr. Craig was cleaning a gun," Alexia ordered Drue to leave before Conrad Brent discovered her presence. Drue told Sarah the strange story of her romance with Craig. They had married more than a year ago when she had nursed him back to health following an auto accident. When Craig brought his bride home, Conrad Brent made no effort to conceal his disapproval. Craig's work in the diplomatic service summoned him to Washington, and Drue returned to New York.

Shortly after, she received a letter from Conrad (which he claimed Craig had asked him to write) stating his son had resigned his post to enter training as an aviator, only to discover married men were ineligible. Conrad said Craig wished Drue to divorce him, but promised they could remarry, with paternal blessing, when the training period was over. Drue got the divorce but never received any reply to the many letters she wrote Craig. Now, she is determined not to leave until Craig regains consciousness and can talk with her. Drue dashes from the room when Nicky Senour enters. Dr. Chivery tells the story of the investigation, the shooting, that the bullet he removed from Craig's shoulder was accidentally thrown away and the gun, too, is missing. Sarah is telling the story.

CHAPTER EIGHT

The trooper's face was as grave as a stone image. He said, "Now let me be sure I have the facts straight. It happened last night at eleven?"

Dr. Chivery, eyeing the bedpost, nodded.

"The butler, Beevens, Mrs. Brent's brother, Nicholas Senour, and a guest, Peter Huber."

"You talked to them yourself," said Dr. Chivery.

"Yes, they said they were in the library when it happened; the butler was looking up and looking at the window catches and Mr. Huber and Mr. Senour were reading the papers. They heard the shot and then heard his—"

"He nodded once toward the man in the bed—"call for help. They went to the garden, found him and—and no one else. They brought him to this room."

"And telephoned for me," added Dr. Chivery.

"At the time of the shot, so far as you know, Craig Brent was alone in the garden?"

"He was alone. I was at home, reading in my library. My wife was upstairs, writing letters. I mention us because we are—ha, ha," he interpolated painstakingly, "almost members of the family here. Mr. Conrad Brent—Craig's father—had gone to bed. Mrs. Brent was likewise in her own room; she had said good night to the others and gone upstairs only a moment or two before it happened. The servants—"

"I'll question them. Thank you, You don't know of any family disagreements—"

Dr. Chivery interrupted indignantly. "My dear fellow—really—this is not an inquiry into murder." The trooper looked at Craig. "Well, no—not yet," he said somewhat pointedly.

"But, really," began Dr. Chivery again, rubbing his pink hands together. His voice had risen shrilly and unexpectedly. In spite of my intense interest, I felt obliged to rustle, put my hand on Craig Brent's wrist, and look hard at the doctor.

Dr. Chivery glanced at his right eyebrow. The trooper had looked at me too, then moved to the door and, laconic to the last, nodded and disappeared. The doctor hesitated, looked at the pin on my collar and said, "Miss..."

"Keate," I responded. "You found my orders?"

"Yes, Doctor. And I wanted to ask you..."

One pink hand fluttered. "I'll return later and we'll go over the situation. Just now, has our patient said anything?"

"No, Doctor."

"Oh, Umm, Well," he said, "he may be a little delirious, rambling; pay no attention to it. But—er—Nurse..."

He glanced nervously over his shoulder toward the door and lowered his voice. "I trust I don't need to remind you that anything said in a sick room..."

I drew myself up and almost, but not quite, forced him to look into my eyes. "I am not a gossip," I declared with some energy.

I saw the flicker of disapproval behind that curtain of preoccupation. I could almost hear him think, "I'll get rid of this nurse as soon as I can manage to do so. He said so." "I'll be back presently." With that, and a slanting look at my Oxford ties, he went away.

It left me alone again in that big gloomy bedroom with the rain whispering against the window and a man who'd been shot.

I was a little shaken. A shooting, gun and bullet missing. Police and a doctor who wouldn't look at me. To complicate it, Drue with her loveliness and her honesty linked so strongly with that dreary, secretive house and everybody in it. Especially the man who had been shot.

The dark panels of the door reflected a gloomy light from the windows opposite. Suddenly my patient gave a kind of weak chuckle and said quite clearly, "Nice going."

It gave me a start. I hurried to the bed. His eyelids fluttered and opened; there was a gleam of laughter in his eyes and the corners of his mouth twitched. Otherwise he hadn't moved. He made a great effort and said, "Nurse..."

"Yes, You'd better not talk."

But there was something he had to say. I watched him struggle for the words, his bright eyes seeking into mine. "Thought—there was a girl. Here..." he said laboriously, and waited for me to reply. I hesitated. His hand still lay outside the cover and it moved a little, and he said, watching me intently, "Somebody I know..."

"There is another nurse. You must sleep now."

"Another—nurse..." he murmured, as a wave of drugged sleep caught and engulfed him again. I waited. He'd gone back to sleep, I thought; but as I started to move away he spoke again in a jumbled rush of words, something that ended with the words—"yellow gloves." That was all I could understand, for the rest was only a mumble and he was soon overtaken by sleep while I stood there wondering what "yellow gloves" meant...

Well, in the end I decided he was rambling.

As I have indicated, my encounter with the doctor and the state trooper was not exactly conducive to a quiet state of mind; there was also the matter of the missing gun, and the bullet that had been thrown out. And the story Drue had told me, naturally, added to my uneasiness.

Craig Brent continued to sleep heavily, without stirring or saying anything more. After a while, finding it difficult to sit still, I drifted to the deeply recessed bay windows and looked out through the streaming rain. That was how it happened that I saw Drue go to the garden and return.

It was by that time fairly late in the afternoon. The room and the whole great house seemed perfectly still, except for the rain.

The Brent house stood on the very edge of a little town called Baliford; it was not quite country and not quite suburb. It was, I believe, among the outlying hills of the Berkshires. It is a rather elegant neighborhood. The Brent house itself was enormous, solid and ugly, except where ivy had crept over the chimneys and around the stone balustrades, softening their rather grim outlines.

The grounds were extensive and were enclosed with a very high stone wall. There were tall, grided iron gates, formal lawns, thick, clipped shrubs, old trees and, directly below me, a wide slope of lawn, bordered by a tall thick hedge. This hedge was broken at one end by steps and another gate which I guessed (and correctly) led to the garden, where my patient was said to have been cleaning a gun—at eleven o'clock of a dark February night.

I was looking down at the lawn and steps when there was a flutter of a blue cape and Drue came hurriedly from somewhere out of my range of vision and crossed the lawn. She was running, so the red lining of her long blue nurse's cap fluttered, and I could see the hem of her starched white skirt. Her hood was pulled up over her head but still I was perfectly sure it was Drue. She disappeared down the steps and behind the hedge and was there for a long time, for I watched.

Indeed when Drue did emerge it was perceptibly darker with the fall of an early twilight. She came directly toward the house and was carrying something under her cape. I was sure of it because of the cape together, the crook of her elbow beneath the heavy folds, and the oddly surreptitious way she hurried toward some side door.

However, it wasn't more than ten minutes later that Drue appeared, fresh and crisp in her white uniform and cap, with only the color in her lips and cheeks to prove that she'd been running across the lawn in what I could only describe as a surreptitious way. She came in quietly and went at once to stand beside the bed.

Stewardess Meets Husband on New Guinea

EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert S. Harper, who began his newspaper career in Washington C. H., is now in the Pacific covering the war against Japan for the Ohio State Journal as an accredited war correspondent assigned to the Guadalcanal area. His reports are published in the Record-Herald through the courtesy of the Ohio State Journal.

By ROBERT S. HARPER

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTH-WEST PACIFIC—Some stories of the war you don't write because of censorship that guards military secrets from the enemy; other stories you don't write because you might hurt someone's feelings.

Something purely personal. And that is the way it was with the story of Ellen Shake.

It was a story that you couldn't have written unless you saw it unfolded as I did and one so tender and dramatic that you felt it was something you shared with her, looked in your heart, and not for the public's ears. But news has a habit of getting around and when I later heard a commander and a lieutenant in the Navy openly talking of the strange story of Ellen Shake, I decided to tell it. It was no longer a secret.

Ellen Shake was the pantry girl aboard the freighter transport that landed some of us "somewhere in New Guinea." She was pretty and intelligent and soon was a favorite on shipboard. Because the ship was of foreign registry, it was permitted to sign stewardesses and there were four aboard, including Mrs. Shake.

One day on the long voyage across the Pacific, she confided that she was going into the southwest to search for her husband, Lt. Hugh Fox Shake of the Navy, whom she had not seen since before Pearl Harbor.

It sounded fantastic—for that great domain called the Southwest Pacific covers a large portion of the globe—and it was all the more improbable of successful conclusion because she didn't know, of course, exactly where he was, only guessing.

She did know, however, that he was "somewhere in New Guinea." We who listened to her story felt secretly sorry for her because we had heard, and she agreed, that the probable destination of the ship was a port some hundreds of miles distant from the place she wanted to see.

Day after day passed at sea, and the word got around that the ship would soon arrive at the destination. Then one morning we awakened to see the ship going in the opposite direction; we knew that by the sun. We had been diverted from our course, as quite often happens in the conduct of an ever-changing war.

More days passed and the ship entered a bay and came to anchor off a shore where palm trees waved.

Mrs. Shake was so excited she could hardly speak.

"He's got to be here! He's got to be here!" she kept saying, on the verge of hysterical tears.

She was permitted to go ashore with ship officers to whom she told her story in desperation. Now wait a minute, don't get ahead of me. Yes, that's right. He was right there and they staged a fervent reunion in the dusty road.

They had a few hours together, then they were parted again.

Mrs. Shake was at Pearl Harbor when the Japs pulled their sneak attack; later she went home to the mainland.

She formerly taught in the exclusive Olympic School at Washington, D. C.

Ruth Jane Sexton Installed As Primus of Alpha Chapter Of Gradale Sorority, Monday

Candlelight Service Held in Record-Herald Clubrooms Monday Evening Following Three-Course Dinner at Wardell Party Home

Miss Ruth Jane Sexton, primus; Mrs. Ben Timmons, pro-primus; Mrs. Emory Lynch, quaestor; Mrs. Dale Ward, tribune; Mrs. Keith Garinger, corresponding tribune and Mrs. William Thompson, state corresponding tribune, were installed as new officers of the Alpha Chapter of the Gradale Sorority in impressive candlelight services in the sorority clubrooms on Monday evening, with Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, mentor, reading the rituals.

Two tall five-branch candelabra stood at each side of a small table covered entirely in black and holding a single tall white candle, representing the Christ. As the new officers took their oath of office, each lighted her candle and held it during the remainder of the service. Mrs. Woodmansee then complimented both the old officers and the new; Mrs. William Thompson, outgoing primus, expressed her appreciation of the cooperation the members and co-officers had given her this past year and stressed the importance of the same cooperation and help for the new primus, Miss Sexton and the other officers.

The new primus stated her appreciation for the honor of being chosen to lead the sorority for the coming year and following the ceremony the new officers were congratulated by individual members on their new offices.

Outgoing officers are: Primus, Mrs. Thompson; pro-primus, Mrs. Emerson; quaestor, Miss Christine Switzer; tribune, Mrs. Loren Noble; corresponding tribune, Mrs. William McCoy.

Preceding the installation the group motored to the Wardell Party Home near Circleville where they enjoyed a bountiful three-course dinner. The three large tables seating the guests for the serving were exquisitely decorated with large watergardens of philadelphium surrounded with bittersweet, used as the attractive centerpiece, and flanked at either end of the table with tall orange tapers in Fostoria candle holders, emphasizing the Halloween motif. The appetizingly prepared dinner was greatly enjoyed by the group and the dinner hour was most pleasurable.

Committees for the party were arranged. Mrs. Thompson, Miss Switzer and Miss Betty Hard; decoration, Mrs. Gene Travis, Mrs. Dwight Beatty and Miss Phyllis Pittenger.

Those attending the affair were: Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Dale Ward, Mrs. Robert Fortier, Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., Mrs. Paul Thornhill, Mrs. Dwight Beatty, Mrs. Emerson Ludwick, Mrs. Keith Garinger, Mrs. Ben Timmons, Mrs. John Ohnewehr, Mrs. Gene Travis, Mrs. Jack Hagerty, Mrs. Willis Coffman, Mrs. Emory Lynch, Miss Phyllis Pittenger, Miss Betty Lucas, Miss Christine Switzer, Miss Marcia Higley, Miss Jane Sexton, Miss Kathleen Wilson, Miss Betty Hard, Miss Jean Garinger, Miss Marjorie Rapp, Miss Lorie Merritt, Miss Janet Kirk and Miss Geraldine Smith.

Fite-Ziegenhorn Vows Will Be Exchanged Soon

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ziegenhorn of Fisher, Arkansas, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Ina, to Mr. Alan Craig Fite of Memphis, Tenn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fite of this city.

Miss Ziegenhorn, after graduating from business college, was employed in the office of the Pulp Plant, Buckeye Cotton Oil Company, of Memphis, Tennessee, until recently. She is now at the home of her parents.

Mr. Fite was graduated from Ohio State University, Columbus, in business administration. Since then he has been employed by the Buckeye Cotton Oil Company as an accountant; first in Jackson, Mississippi, then in Cincinnati, Ohio, and is now in charge of the office of the pulp plant of that company in Memphis.

The wedding will take place in the near future at the home of Miss Ziegenhorn's parents with only the immediate family present.

Lions Get Ready For Game With London

Confidence in themselves bolstered by their new found striking power which almost game them their first victory of the season in the last five minutes of play against Mt. Vernon's Yellow Jackets here last Friday night, the Blue Lions of WHS went into their drills on timing and execution of offensive plays with enthusiasm Monday evening as they started preparations for their game here Thursday night with London's gridmen.

Six defeats in a row this season

Notre Dame Holds Top Spot In Football -- Bucks Fourth

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(AP)—For the thirteenth consecutive time over a two-year period the Notre Dame football team rates as the country's No. 1 eleven in the Associated Press poll, but this time the Irish margin is a mere eight points.

Loss of a single first place vote and its 10 points would have dropped Notre Dame into second place behind Army in one of the tightest ballot battles the nine-year-old poll ever has produced.

Notre Dame, unbeaten this season, garnered 40 first-place tickets and 917 points. Army, likewise unscathed, was tops on 30 votes and finished with 909 points to be followed by Randolph Field, first on 23 and Ohio State's civilians with 14. The flyers collected 853 points to 790 for the Buckeyes. The foursome had identical positions last week.

Only Bainbridge Naval Station was able to crash the Big Four's grasp on the first place listings, getting two of the 109 cast but winding up in thirteenth place.

Not since Ohio State finished on top in the final voting of 1942 has the Notre Dame domination of the country's football forces been challenged to such an extent.

The South Bend Ramblers were first a week ago with 60 designations as the country's best, compared to 22 for Randolph Field, 12 for Army and four for Ohio State.

Since then, however, Notre Dame spent a torrid afternoon defeating Wisconsin, 28 to 13, while Randolph Field crushed Camp Polk, 67 to 0; Army handled Coast Guard with greater ease, 76 to 0; and Ohio State knocked off the mature Great Lakes outfit, 26 to 6.

The leading teams on a point basis with each first place vote 10 points, second nine, third eight, etc., (first place votes in parentheses):

Notre Dame (40)	917
Army (30)	909
Randolph Field (23)	853
Ohio State (14)	790
Georgia Tech (13)	589
Iowa Pre-Flight (12)	589
Tulsa (11)	589
Pennsylvania (10)	589
North Carolina Pre-Flight (9)	589
Purdue (8)	589

Second Ten: Fourth Airforce 109, Navy 101, Bainbridge Naval (2) 93, Illinois 55, Second Airforce 52, Great Lakes 46, Indiana 44, Wake Forest 36, Mississippi State 23, Tennessee 23, Third Airforce 23.

Other Point Winners: Michigan 20, Washington 18, Duke 15, Texas 13, Yale 7, California 7, Virginia 6, Southern California 5, Norman, Okla., Navy 4, Camp Peary 4, Texas Christian 3, Tulane 3, North Carolina 1, Fleet City Blue-jackets 1.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Lieut. John R. Tripson, the big guy who played tackle for Mississippi State and the Detroit Lions a few years ago, won the Navy Cross in the landings in Africa and more recently played heroic roles in the Normandy and southern Mediterranean invasions, returned to the Fort Pierce, Fla., amphibious training base last Friday for a rest. The same day he turned out for the base football team saying: "It's the first time I've been out of a walk in three years." He had just donned his uniform for a workout when the Amphibs were invited to substitute that night against Miami University for stormbound Jacksonville Naval Air Station team. On the trip Tripson picked up a little information about the way the team played. "When he went into the game, Fort Pierce was on defense and on the first two plays the announcer's voice recorded: 'Tripson made the tackle.'"

Men of Letters

Frank Coyne, candidate for a tackle job on the Wisconsin football team, was awarded 18 letters at Muscoda, Wis., high school. He participated in football, basketball, baseball, boxing and track. The Badger squad also includes one 12-letter winner, fullback Jerry Thompson of Cameron, Wis., high school, who also played two years at St. Olaf's College in Minnesota, and three nine-letter men—Jack Haese, Richard (Dint) Botham and Bud Elliott.

Service Dept.

The only position where the Maxwell Field, Ala., football coach, Maj. Jesse Yarborough, can't start a former pro is fullback. He has only Pop Turner, Mississippi State; Norm Michael, Syracuse; Paul Feinerer, Ohio Northern, and Jim Gaffney, Tennessee, for that spot.

they did it again. But, a blocked place kick attempt knocked them out of a tie. Then, with only seconds left to play, they refused to give up and had the Yellow Jack-jacks backed up against the goal line and were ready to take the ball when the game ended.

The comparative strength of the London and Washington C. H. teams is obscured by the fact that they have not met the same opponents. The London boys have been winning their share of games this season, but Lion fans say—and hope—this may be an indication of weakness on the part of the opposition as much as strength for the Londoners.

Monday evening's Blue Lion drills were devoted to tightening the defenses against end sweeps which have been their undoing on more than one occasion this season.

Before Thursday night's encounter with the London boys, the Lions are expected to put in some time on their aerial attack, although the coach has given no indication of his plans. Passes have been their most effective offensive

CUBS TO PLAY CHILLI HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Unbeaten, untied and unscored on, the Blue Lion Cubs of WHS today were looking forward to their third game of the season—and their victory—Wednesday afternoon when they meet the Juniors from Chillicothe in a return game.

The Cubs, who beat the Children's Home team a week ago last Saturday morning at Gardner Park by a 12 to 0 score and came back with another 12 to 0 win at Chillicothe last Thursday afternoon, have been bearing down in the past week's drills on the Gregg Street lot under coach James Kyler.

The game is slated for right after school, at 4 P.M.

Both school officials and the Cubs are hoping for a sizeable turnout. There is no admission charge.

No 'Czar' Needed For Basketball Puck Coach Says

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Basketball Coach Harold G. Olsen of Ohio State University says the cage sport needs no "czar" to prevent gamblers from "fixing" games.

"There are a lot of people who would fix games, but I don't know of a single coach in the game who would listen to people like that," said Olsen, who also is chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament committee.

Olsen's observations yesterday were in reply to an assertion by Sgt. Lou Greenberg, former manager of the Syracuse, N. Y., Reds professional basketball team, that a "czar" was needed.

Olsen also discounted assertions by Dr. Forrest (Phog) Allen, basketball coach at the University of Kansas, that gamblers threatened the future of basketball.

Four Ohio Teams Not Yet Scored On

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Probably the most difficult stunt in football is to win every game and not allow your opponents a point, and that's just what at least four Ohio high school teams—there may be more—have done through the first six week-ends of the 1944 campaign.

That title of unbeaten, untied and unscored upon now can be hung on Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Austintown Fitch, North Canton and Springfield (Summit County).

Cathedral Latin scored 155 points in winning its first five games against big league opposition. Among Cathedral Latin's victims is Massillon.

Austintown Fitch and North Canton each have won six games without giving up a point and Springfield has five shutouts to its credit.

weapon, having played an important part in every one of the four touchdowns registered this season. In the past they have resorted to passes only in desperation and emergencies. Whether they will take to the air in an attempt to get out in front themselves earlier in the game is a topic of considerable speculation among the so-called downtown coaches.

The Blue Lions were scheduled for a workout on fundamentals Tuesday night under the lights at Gardner Park.

Tappets Only 'Unbeatens' In API Men's Alley Loop

The only undefeated team in the API men's bowling league today is the Tappets, a quintet which trounced the Top Hats three in a row Monday night. Both teams were handicapped by a pair of blind bowlers, but at that, the Tappets skinned through with little trouble. Only in the last contest were the Top Hats any threat when they came within 36 pins of winning.

Topping down from their unbeaten perch, the Office boys won only the middle game of their tilt with the Inspection team. The 153 pin handicap on the Inspection side helped them win the first game but they didn't need it for the last.

It was the same story for the Engineers—they dropped the end games to a white-hot Production outfit which tackled the unbeaten Engineers to the tune of a two to one victory. Smarting under their first defeat, the Engineers climbed out to win the second but lost. Their determination wasn't quite good enough to carry them through to another win.

The Pushers and Foremen seasawed through three matches and the Pushers turned out on top twice. The match missed being a clean sweep by the Pushers by only five pins in the second game when the Foremen turned on the pressure to defeat them 782 to 877.

Touchdown Mark Of Red Grange Is Neared by Young

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 24.—(AP)—The 20-year-old touchdown record of Harold (Red) Grange at Illinois is in imminent danger of being shattered.

Grange scored 13 touchdowns in 1924, including four in 12 minutes against Michigan.

In six games this year Claude (Buddy) Young, the Illini's little "buzz-bomb," and national sprint champion, has raced across the goal line for ten touchdowns. Illinois has four more games on its schedule.

Young's scores for the most part have been scored on end runs, including one of 82 yards and one of 93 yards. Those long runs have built up an eye-lifting average for Young of 12.7 yards per try. In 43 ball-carrying sprints, he has piled up 546 yards.

TEACHERS' MEET
WILL CLOSE ALL
SCHOOLS FRIDAY

147 To Go to Columbus from
City and County
Systems

Come Friday, some 4,350-odd school children will have no classes. On the same day, 142 teachers in the city and county will travel to Columbus for the annual Central Ohio Teachers' Association two-day convention.

Because of that convention the London-Blue Lions football game is moved up to Thursday night, Superintendent A. B. Murray said.

Both Murray and W. J. Hilty, superintendent of county schools, said they thought the attendance would be larger this year because the central association had no meeting last year.

Speakers Scheduled

Friday morning Edward Tomlinson, lecturer, radio broadcaster and authority on Latin American countries, will speak on "The Americas at War." Mrs. Margaret Culkin Banning, novelist and analyst of current issues, will speak on "The Manners of Democracy." Each speaker will appear before both general sessions audiences meeting in Memorial Hall and Loews' Ohio Theater.

Friday night, Ely Culbertson, perhaps more widely known as a bridge expert but an intelligent student of world affairs and the author of a book, "Plan for World Settlement," is to speak.

Saturday morning Dr. Charles Wesley, president of Wilberforce University and noted platform speaker, will lecture on "Education Faces the Problem of Peace." Channing Pollock, author, columnist, philosopher, also is scheduled Saturday morning. His subject is "The Home Front."

On Friday afternoon, the 9,500 teachers of the convention will divide among 31 different departmental meetings. The programs for these meetings cover the work of all grades and all fields of subject matter, as well as supervision and administration. Music for all the general sessions will be furnished by the Columbus public school system under the direction of Kenneth Keller.

PARENTS LIABLE
FOR CHILDREN
ON HALLOWE'EN

Authorities Here Hold View
That Property Damage
Now Is Unpatriotic

Police Chief Vaiden Long, of Washington C. H., and Mayor Roman Wright, of Jeffersonville, both have issued warnings to parents and children that parents will be held responsible for property damage caused under the guise of celebrating Halloween.

They take the attitude that now above all times is no time for damaging other people's property. They also point out that soaping automobiles with strong soap that damages the paint also is destroying property.

It is pointed out that destroying other people's property is a violation of law and that under the law parents are directly responsible for damage caused by their children.

Due to the war it is almost impossible to replace damaged property, and so many people are engaged in war work that they have little time to repair damaged property, it was stated.

"Boys and girls should be taught by their parents that it is their patriotic duty not to do anything that causes extra work or damage during these times," is the way the officers look at the matter, and they call upon all patriotic boys and girls, as well as grown-ups, to forego any property damage while celebrating Halloween.

JOHN THOMAS ERVIN
FINED FOR THEFT

Four Others Turned Over to Greene County

John Thomas Ervin, 21, who, with four other Greene County youths, fell into the hands of the police Sunday night on a charge of stealing gasoline from parked automobiles, was fined $25 and costs in Judge R. H. Sites' court.

Matthew Ervin, 17; Marvin Young, 16; John Crowell, 17 and James Wilson, with Ervin at the time, were Tuesday turned over to the Juvenile Court authorities of Greene County, who came here after them.

A five gallon can and hose used by the five are being held by the police here.

BLOW TORCH STARTS
FIRE IN HOME HERE

Damage of Several Hundred Dollars Results

Fire which started from a blow torch being used to remove paint from the Roy Moots' home, 710 Sycamore Street, about 4 P.M. Monday, caused several hundred dollars damage before it could be extinguished by firemen who were called to the scene.

The fire not only burned between the weather boarding and plastering, but damaged considerable roof.

PARKING METER
POSTS ARE SET IN SIDEWALKS

Meter Installation Is To Be Completed Within Next Few Days

Work of drilling holes for the parking meters was completed Monday and workmen then started the job of cementing the posts in the sidewalk Monday evening, and worked until late in the night.

About half of the three-inch steel posts, which are some 30 inches in height, were cemented in the sidewalks, and the collars attached about the base.

As soon as the remainder of the posts are set, they will be given a coat of paint, and the meters proper will be attached.

Not only are the posts set securely so they can not be pulled up and the meters carried away, but the meters themselves will be so securely bolted to the posts by a bolt in the center of the posts, that they can not be removed.

It is expected that by another week the meters will be ready for use. Due public notice will be given when the meters are ready.

Fine for over parking will be $1, and as most citizens already know, parking charges will run from one cent for 12 minutes up to one hour for five cents.

The meters are being placed on Court Street from North to Hindle; Main from Market to the alley south of Court, and on Fayette Street from Market to the alley south of Court.

Present street signs limiting parking to three hours are being removed, as they are no longer needed.

REGISTRATION OPEN
FOR HOME NURSING

Red Cross Sponsored Class To Be 12 Weeks Long

Registrations for a home nursing class are open now at the Red Cross headquarters here, Miss Mary D. Robinson, home service secretary, said today.

Women interested in learning to protect their own families may register by phoning 22401, Miss Robinson said.

Mrs. Malcolm Dorn, a registered nurse with experience in private and institutional work, will be the instructor. Mrs. Dorn taught one of the three home nursing classes which were conducted at Red Cross headquarters last year.

The weekly two hour classes will last for 12 weeks until the entire course is completed. The instruction includes bed making, care of children and adults and learning to make and use improvised equipment in the home.

KNOW YOUR MONEY
DISPLAY IN CITY

A "know your money" display, loaned by the U. S. Secret Service Department of the U. S. Treasury, may be seen by the public at any time during business hours, in the office of The Dayton Power and Light Company, for a limited time.

The display includes a series of genuine and counterfeit notes. Some of the classes in the local schools will visit the display while it is here.

5,725 LICENSES
ISSUED DRIVERS
HERE FOR YEAR

Highway Patrol Check Given
Credit for Increase—Total
About Same as Last Year

Since October 1, over 700 drivers' licenses have been sold at the auto club here, bringing the total to 5,725, it is announced today.

Howard C. Allen, secretary of the club, said the state highway patrol check to see how many drivers were operating without a license "really sent them in."

The number issued is about the same as last year because, it was explained, drivers whose cars have worn out are buying licenses anyway. The fact that drivers who do not get their licenses before April 1 must take an examination also is an incentive for getting licenses now, it was added.

Servicemen's Licenses
Servicemen home on furlough may drive without a license provided he was properly licensed by the state at the time he commenced active military service, it was ruled by the Ohio general assembly.

Examinations for discharged servicemen may be waived if the person's honorable discharge certificate shows there is no physical or mental defect which would affect his driving ability. If the discharged man or woman meets these requirements and has operated a motor vehicle for more than a year the examination will be waived if application for a license is made within six months after the discharge.

BEAUTIFUL TREES
IN THIS COUNTY

Part of Hill Areas Lack Usual
Coloring

A Fayette countian who has been into the hill areas recently and also over part of Fayette County, said that some of the most beautiful coloring to be found anywhere is in the wooded area in Fayette County.

The oak trees in some of the sections of woods are almost blood-red, with most of them a deep maroon, and the golden hues of some other trees, as well as greens, browns and another shade or two, present a beautiful sight.

Beginning next Monday, Sabins will mail letters and packages at a new post office, one more centrally located than the North Howard Street building. This week-end the post office will move to the south room of the Webb Block on Howard Street.
